

A black and white photograph of an archaeological site. A large, rectangular block of light-colored material, possibly plaster or mud, is the central focus. It is embedded in a rough, textured ground surface. On the top surface of the block, several small, dark, circular or oval objects are visible, which appear to be impressions or remains of small items. To the left of the block, a scale bar is placed horizontally, consisting of two parallel lines. Below the scale bar, a small white card with the number '500' is visible. The overall scene suggests an excavation or a study of ancient artifacts.
