

A black and white photograph of an archaeological site. The central focus is a rectangular area of stone mosaic, possibly a floor or a wall panel, set within a larger, textured, light-colored surface. The mosaic consists of several irregularly shaped stones of varying sizes, some of which are light-colored and stand out against the darker, more uniform background. To the right of the mosaic, a small white rectangular label with the number '416' is placed. Below the label, a metal scale bar is positioned horizontally for reference. The overall scene is captured in a high-angle, close-up shot, emphasizing the texture and detail of the archaeological remains.
